If you prefer to concentrate your energies on swinging rather than carrying, check out these great electric trolleys and buggies

PowaKaddy Freeway II

HERE is one of the first looks of the brand new Freeway II from PowaKaddy. PowaKaddy have gone all out to maintain their No 1 status in electric trolleys by releasing the Freeway II, which merges contemporary looks with state-of-the-art functionality and mind-blowing technology. Top of the list is a multi function control pad and fully integrated LCD display that will provide feedback on a staggering amount of information. A Distance Measuring Facility can calculate both how far the ball has been hit and the distance travelled during the round while the screen also indicates actual travelling speed, time and battery power as well as the nine different power settings.

The whisper-quiet motor, soft touch ergonomic hand grip, and ultra lightweight chassis make this one of the most user-friendly trolleys out there. It also comes with a Lithium battery to cut down on weight even more while PowaKaddy will offer an extended two-year warranty when it is released in April.

SRP: £449 (18 hole lead acid battery) and £649 (Lithium)
